Ansgar Guseck undertook training in banking at Deutsche Bank in Bonn before gaining a degree in economics from the University of Cologne and the Asian Institute of Management in Manila. He began working for the Sauren Group in 2000, alongside his studies, and has been employed as a fund analyst since March 2004. He has comprehensive investment expertise developed through his many discussions with fund managers in all significant asset classes. With his extensive experience, he is valued as a recognised expert by specialist media and for conferences.
